RE: Status of Lynn Springs Quarry, M/003/025, Box Elder County, Utah

Dear Mr. Bown:

On May 8, 1996 Utah Building Stone posted with the Division, an interim reclamation surety for the Lynn Springs Quarry in the amount of $9,500.00 in the form of a Certificate of Deposit from U.S. Bank. This fulfills the last mitigation requirement of the Non Compliance that the Division issued on November 6, 1995.

You may now resume operations at the Lynn Springs Quarry under the following conditions:

1. You may only quarry within the existing disturbed area until the Large Mining Notice is approved by the Division. Please note, no new disturbances are to be made even though they may be identified in your large mining notice, until it has received final approval.
2. You must comply with the mineral sales conditions of the US Forest Service until a plan of operations is approved by them.
3. Prior to removing your excavating equipment from the mine site (after you have quarried sufficient material for your orders), you must reclaim that portion of the North Pit area that is on BLM ground.

We hope that work is progressing on the response to the Division's March 12, 1996 review of the Lynn Springs Large Mining Notice. We would hope that you could provide a response to the deficiencies by the first of June, 1996. As always, please don't hesitate to call us if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

D. Wayne Hedberg
Permit Supervisor
Minerals Regulatory Program
